LOCAL ITEMS.

—We notice many new improvements inside Mr. W. S. Partrick's stand.

—The Clinton Literary Club meets to-morrow night at the residence of Col. J. R. Beaman.

—Mr. T. M. Ferrell's store, which has recently been under repair, has received a new coat of paint.

—We are glad to notice that the farmers have taken an early start in making preparations for another crop.

—Our streets have been under a much needed repair. Though at the wrong time to be elevated with mud.

—We are glad to see that our town is still on a boom. Several new buildings are going up on De-Vane and other streets.

—Our citizens were, we hope, benefited by two able sermons on last Sunday morning. They were strictly practical and instructive.

—Go to Atkin's Hall to night and hear Judge Farrar's lecture, "Lights and Shadows." It will profit and please you. Tickets for sale at W. S. Partrick's.

—Calvin Amos, a colored boy about 21 years old, was killed at Hines and Brewer's saw mill near Faison on Monday. The accident was caused by the slipping of a prize.

—The types made up in Mr. W. G. Rackley's local last week that he was selling North Carolina Domestic Plaids for 4 cents per yard when it should have read 5 cents per yard.

—The merchants of Clinton met in the court-house last night and drafted resolutions memorializing the present General Assembly of the State to repeal the merchants' purchase tax.

—Rev. Dr. F. D. Swindell, Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District, will preach in the Methodist church at this place to-night at 7 o'clock, and to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—The Sampson Light Infantry turned out on yesterday. The drilling, we think, did very well indeed. Their efficient and handsome Capt., Mr. Wm. A. Johnson, is making out of the company only what might be expected, a success.

Personals.

WHAT IS THE MATTER WITH NORTH CAROLINA?

Our Talent and Energy Continue to Leave to Build and Develop Other States.

We have frequently called attention to the adage, "North Carolina is a good place to be born and a good place to leave," we have inquired for the cause and called for the remedy. So much do we regret such a state of affairs and so much wish not to believe it, that we have often been tempted to defend the converse of the latter part of the statement, yet veritable proof forces us to submit that there is something in it. The pages of our country's history is largely sprinkled with the names of men who were born in North Carolina but became famous in other States; and to-day there is in every State of this Union North Carolina blood, energy and talent ranking high in the professions and devoted to building up other places and developing other resources. This State must (the duty and necessity is imperative) put itself in a condition to keep its young men at home by commanding their talents and remunerating their efforts. Within the last few months, several such young men, under our own personal observation, have thrown their lots in other quarters of this great country. The last to go was a young man from our own town, our esteemed personal friend, W. S. Thomson. He regretted to go, as much as we regretted to see him leave, but we could not find the arguments to advise him any; but since he has gone, we wish abundant success, (which he so richly deserves) in the quarter he has decided to cast his fortune. He is a young man of strong parts, with sterling integrity and of high social standing. He goes to Cordele, Georgia, a new but booming town, to grow up with it. The growth of this town has been almost magical. Two years ago there was not a building on the site; to-day it is much larger than Clinton, having a population of 2,000. It has a half dozen manufacturing establishments (and here is one of the results of its marvelous growth) two banks, a sixty thousand dollar hotel and is already a railroad center, having five outlets by rail. It is not necessary to say that the people are public-spirited, enterprising, ever pushing and ever on the alert, for otherwise such results could not be accomplished. To the enterprising citizens of this progressive town (soon to be a city) we wish to commend our friend, W. S. Thomson, to be a man in every way worthy of their confidence and esteem, to which, when once they know him, his conduct and worth will sufficiently testify.

Can North Carolina not profit by such experience and such lessons? No State in the Union can raise better men, no State succeeds in driving more of them from her borders, and no State succeeds in decently starving more of those who persist in remaining.

—The merchants of Clinton met in the court-house last night and drafted resolutions memorializing the present General Assembly of the State to repeal the merchants' purchase tax.

—Rev. Dr. F. D. Swindell, Presiding Elder of the Wilmington District, will preach in the Methodist church at this place to-night at 7 o'clock, and to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock.

—The Sampson Light Infantry turned out on yesterday. The drilling, we think, did very well indeed. Their efficient and handsome Capt., Mr. Wm. A. Johnson, is making out of the company only what might be expected, a success.

MISS DANIELS.
Misses Katie and Oran Rich are visiting their uncles, Mr. James and B. F. Smith, near the town of Parkersburg, accompanied by Miss Penelope Morris.

SOUTH CLINTON.
Married, on January 22d, 1891, at the residence of Mr. R. A. Peterson, the bride's father, Mr. J. B. Williams, of Nash county, N. C., to Miss Miss Victoria Peterson, M. M. Kille, officiating. After the ceremonies were over, and a sumptuous dinner had been served, the crowd with other invited friends, met at the residence of Mr. J. A. Kille, where another feast was in store for all.

After an elegant supper the young folks gave vent to their feelings in singing and instrumental music and various games, etc., until 2 o'clock in the morning, when the crowd broke up, carrying away many pleasant recollections of the occasion.

FRANKLIN.
There was an accident at Mr. Geo. Hall's saw-mill, near Ivanhoe, the 23d, which came near killing several persons. Mr. Hall and five other men were badly hurt.

Mr. Irvin Shaw has a flourishing school at Kerr. He has over fifty pupils.

Mr. A. L. Hubbard, of Pender, spent last week in the neighborhood, visiting friends and relatives.

ALPHA.
Mr. J. T. Knowles killed three "pine root" breed of hogs one year and 21 days old, last week that weighed 1365 pounds.

LITTLE COHARIE.
There was a delightful party at the residence of Mr. J. W. Underwood on last Friday night. Many young people from the neighborhood and from a distance were present and enjoyed the merry maze till daylight called a halt.

There is no more jovial and generous hearted citizen in the county than Mr. Underwood, and all present feel under lasting obligations to him.

MINGO.
Mr. Jesse Wilson has erected his saw mill at his gin.

Mr. S. D. Jackson, a very clever young gentleman, is to be on Wednesday, Jan. 28th, joined in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Lulphna Barefoot.

A Leader in the Senate.
During the absence of the editor of this paper we take the liberty to clip from the Lexington Ledger the following complimentary notice paid him by the Raleigh correspondent of that paper:

The Joint Committee on Railroad Commission has been appointed. This committee, which is the most important one in the General Assembly, has the duty of formulating a bill which will be introduced into the Legislature. Senator Marion Butler, of Sampson, is chairman of the Senate branch of the committee. Mr. Butler is a young man, only 27 years of age, who fought his way to the front in the recent campaign as the representative of the great agricultural class, and is the recognized leader in the Senate. He is a graduate of the State University, has read law (though he is not a practicing attorney), is editor of THE CLINTON CAUCASIAN, and came to the Senate through more opposition, probably, than any other member of that body. The lawyers, politicians and corporations all tried to down him, but the people were for him. This is Mr. Butler's first experience as a law-maker, but native ability, a close attention to men and affairs, varied information, energy and determination, make him at once a valuable and wise legislator. It has been whispered around that his handsome person and "availability" have already captured some of the fair nymphs who dwell amid the Sylvan scenes of the classic "City of Oaks."

[The majority of the lawyers in this place were with the people in supporting Mr. Butler.—H. W. B.]

A Card.
MR. EDITOR: I ask a small space in the columns of THE CAUCASIAN for the following:

The mileage and the per diem of the County Board of Education and the pay of the County Superintendent for the year ending June 30th, 1890, was three hundred and ninety-six dollars and seventy cents. The amount paid the Institute, including room rent, board of Prof. Noble and servant's hire, was fourteen dollars and ninety-six cents. SWAYNE'S ORNAMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumor. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents.

AUTRYVILLE, Jan. 20, '91.
The opening of the first term of this school took place Tuesday, the 13th ult., conducted by the Principal, Rev. F. R. Underwood, who read a chapter, which was followed by fervent prayer by Rev. W. R. Johnson. Then a beautiful hymn—"Must Jesus bear the cross alone"—was sung, in which the entire school, patrons and friends, heartily joined, making the walls of the school-room echo and re-echo with the glad refrain of sweetest music. There followed some good speeches, first being a short but pointed talk by the Principal, who introduced and called for a speech from Capt. J. L. Autry, an eloquent and generous-hearted gentleman, whose liberality has caused the erection of the school building. He arose, and drawing his splendid, magnificent form to its full height, responded in the most impressive and eloquent language making the room resound with a hearty welcome to all present.

Then followed a short but very instructive speech by Rev. Wm. R. Johnson, in which he gave good advice
